HEAD COACH ROBBIE WINE

Head Coach
#77
Robbie WINE
 Seventh Year
Oklahoma State, 2002

In just six years at the helm of the Penn State baseball program, head coach Robbie Wine has anchored the Nittany Lions into one of the most consistent teams in the Big Ten. Wine, the school's 13th coach of all-time, has turned the school's first intercollegiate athletic squad into one that continues to reach new heights. The Lions have been deemed as one of the most progressive teams in the nation by various college baseball media.

In 2008, Wine became the first coach in school history to produce back-to-back top three finishes in the Big Ten. After a slow start to the season, the squad staged a dramatic rally to shut out Indiana and Iowa en route to 17 conference wins and the third seed in the proceeding tournament. From 2007-08, the Nittany Lions maintained a .600 winning percentage against Big Ten opposition.

Penn State followed those efforts with 25 more wins in 2009. It was the third straight season of at least 25 victories, one of only four Big Ten squads to do so. After a hot start, the Nittany Lions struggled down the stretch, but a number of bright spots included a win against 21st-ranked Minnesota in the season-finale which prevented the Golden Gophers from winning the Big Ten Regular Season Championship. Penn State also defeated eventual NCAA Tournament participants Indiana and Ohio State and took two-of-three from perennial power Michigan.

Wine has helped make Medlar Field at Lubrano Park one of the best atmospheres in college baseball. The squad drew over 1,000 fans for almost half of its games (10) while drawing over 2,000 two times and 3,000 on one occasion. The Lions have impressed on the field as well, highlighted by a 15-9 home mark in 2008. The Nittany Lions drew four crowds of over 2,000 that year to place 42nd nationally (for the second straight season) in average attendance, beating the ranks of some of college baseball's top programs such as Vanderbilt and Arizona. In only three seasons, Penn State baseball has made Medlar Field at Lubrano Park "one of college baseball's best stadiums."

Known and respected throughout both professional and collegiate baseball circles, Wine has used his connections to expand Penn State's recruiting reach. Traditionally known as a regional program, Wine has gradually made Penn State baseball into a nationally-known name. Penn State will enter the 2011 season with players from 10 different states as well as one Canadian province. In addition to the 14 Pennsylvania natives, there are 21 student-athletes from across the continent. The roster includes five Californians, three Texans, three Massachusetts residents, two New Jersey and Florida natives, and one player from Georgia, Illinois, New Mexico, Ohio, and Virginia. Dave Walkling is the lone player born outside of the United States as the junior right-hander hails from British Columbia.

Not only are some of the best prep and junior college talent signing with Penn State, but they are also performing once here. Two of Wine's players (pitcher Scott Kelley and first baseman Cory Wine) were selected in last June's Major League Baseball Draft. Penn State has seen nine players selected from 2007-09, third most in the Big Ten in that span. In 2008, pitcher Drew O'Neil was selected in the fourth round by the Chicago White, becoming the highest Penn State draftee since Nate Bump went in the first round in 1998. He also marked just the second Penn Stater to be drafted in the top 10 rounds in the past 31 years. Before O'Neil's selection, five players were selected in the 2007 draft, three coming in the first 14 rounds.

Wine has 26 years of playing and coaching experience at the college and professional levels. Prior to his first head coaching position, he was an assistant coach in charge of hitting and defense at his alma mater, Oklahoma State. During his tenure, the Cowboys won a Big 12 Tournament championship (2004), qualified for five NCAA Regionals, one Super Regional and a College World Series (1999). He also oversaw talent evaluation, recruiting and office administration. Scott Baker, Josh Fields, Scott Richmond and Luke Scott are among the various Major Leaguers coming from Oklahoma State during Wine's tenure.

Strong offenses have been known to follow Wine wherever he coaches. In his first season as head coach in 2005, the Nittany Lions hit nearly 50 points higher (.302 vs. .255) than they had in 2004. Five different Penn State players hit over .300 to account for the incredible improvement. The Nittany Lions also had 73 more RBI (286-213), 92 more hits (546-454) and 81 more runs (318-237).

They followed the improvement with another strong season in 2006, batting .289 as a team with four different players hitting over .300 while five

COACHING TIMELINE

June 6, 1999: Wine's Oklahoma State Cowboys rally to score six runs in the final two innings to top Baylor and advance to the College World Series.

May 30, 2004: In what proved to be his final season as assistant coach, Oklahoma State tops Missouri, 10-9 in 13 innings to win the Big 12 Tournament and advance to the NCAA Tallahassee Regional.

August 30, 2004: Penn State Athletic Director Tim Curley formally introduces Robbie Wine as the 13th head baseball coach in program history.

February 25, 2005: Robbie Wine wins his first-career game as head coach as Penn State tops UNC Wilmington, 4-3.

March 3, 2007: The Nittany Lions stun #1 and undefeated North Carolina, 3-2 for Wine's 50th career victory.

April 13, 2008: Penn State topples Purdue, 13-3 for Wine's 50th career Big Ten victory.

May 9, 2008: Wine wins his 100th career game behind a 6-5 extra-inning win over Iowa.

March 1, 2009: Wine coaches Penn State's 3,000th game in program history at the University of Texas.

had slugging percentages of .400 or greater.

After four players hit .300 or better in 2007, three did so in '08, led by Brian Ernst's team-leading .358 average. Four starters had on-base percentages of over .400 as Penn State drew 249 walks, 55 more than its opponents. The team mirrored the four-year average batting average (.292) under Wine, while improving to .294 in 2009. Four players finished with a .300 average or better, led by Jordan Steranka (.365) and Blake Lynd (.356).

During the 2010 campaign, Penn State's offense continued to serve as a bright spot. As a team, the Lions hit .298 with a .434 on-base percentage. Ben Heath led the way, hitting .369 while setting a new school record with 19 home runs. Freshmen Elliot Searer and Steve Snyder also eclipsed the .300 plateau, while sophomore Joey DeBernardis hit .354 with a team-high 75 base hits.

In Wine's final year at Oklahoma State, the Cowboy offense hit .312 and smashed 48 home runs en route to a 38-24 record and its first Big 12 championship since the beginning of the Big 12 nearly a decade earlier. A year earlier, the offense led the conference in home runs with 77 while in 2000, the Cowboys were in the top three in the league in virtually every offensive Wine led the 1999 Oklahoma State squad to the most runs scored (696) and third-most runs per game (10.39) en route to the College World Series. It also finished third nationally with 132 home runs and a .587 slugging percentage. That was an improvement from an already stellar offense in 1998 that finished 10th in the country with 9.52 runs per game. In his first year as assistant coach the previous season, the Cowboys hit .333 as a team and tied for first nationally with a .620 slugging percentage. They were also second in the country with 149 home runs (2.29/game), while averaging over 10 runs per contest.

Prior to returning to where it all began, Wine spent 15 years in the professional baseball ranks, eight as a player and six as a coach. He was the eighth overall selection of the 1983 Major League Baseball Amateur Draft, the second-highest pick in Oklahoma State history. Wine worked his way to the Major League level where he played for the Houston Astros for parts of the 1986 and 1987 seasons. After his playing days, he spent 1991 as a hitting, third base and defensive coach for the Miami Miracle of the Single-A Florida State League. He then worked for the Milwaukee Brewers from 1993-96 as part of their big league coaching staff and then as a roving catching instructor.

Wine was a two-time All-American catcher during his playing days at Oklahoma State. Playing for the legendary coach Gary Ward, Wine's teams made three College World Series appearances, including a second-place finish in 1981. He was inducted into the Oklahoma State Hall of Fame in 1993.

"He's had great relationships with his student-athletes," said Frank Anderson, Wine's former boss at Oklahoma State. "It's an outstanding opportunity for both him and the school. It's a positive move for Penn State and for Robbie. Not only is he a good coach, but he's a good person and part of a great family."

Wine brings a unique perspective as a former Major League Baseball player; he is currently one of just 13 NCAA Division I coaches out of nearly 300 programs that has played in the big leagues.

Born July 13, 1962 in Philadelphia, Robbie is the son of former Philadelphia Phillies shortstop Bobby Wine, who has spent over 40 years in professional baseball and is currently an advanced scout for the Atlanta Braves. Robbie graduated from Methacton High School in Fairview Village, Pa. and went back to school while coaching at Oklahoma State to earn his Bachelor's Degree in 2002.

Wine resides in Boalsburg with his wife Shealynn and son Cory (23) and daughter Mackenzie (19). Cory graduated from Penn State last year following a stellar four-year baseball career. He was selected by the Philadelphia Phillies in the 38th round of last June's Major League Draft and later played for the Gulf Coast League Phillies.

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING...

"The first thing I would say about Robbie is that he grew up in the baseball world. He has a wealth of knowledge and experience. His dad was a player and scout for many, many years, so Robbie's got a pedigree. Something needs to be said for that type of experience and background, which helps out."

"Interestingly enough, he was always sort of quiet, always one of the quietest in the room. You would have never known that his dad was a former player. He was always kind of reserved. He had a lot of respect for the game."

-Phil Garner, 31 years of Major League experience (16 as a player & 15 as a manager), Played and coached with Wine

"Robbie Wine comes from a tremendous baseball background first and foremost, following his father who was an outstanding player and baseball mind. He learned at home, then having the opportunity to play at Oklahoma State under Gary Ward only maximized his potential in this game."

"I've witnessed first hand his ability to recruit, develop and compete with student athletes at the highest level through our bedlam series (Oklahoma State vs. Oklahoma rivalry). Unfortunately for me, Robbie was standing on the other side of the field; we had tremendous battles. I know Penn State will thrive under his leadership."

-Sunny Golloway, Oklahoma Head Baseball Coach, Played and Coached Against Wine

"I have no problem saying that Coach Wine is the best baseball coach that I had during my playing career. 'Wino' has a unique ability that enables him to relate extremely well with players of all different personalities. Simply put, he's a player's coach. Coach Wine puts the interest of his players and the university in front of anything else. I have no doubt that he will continue to take our program to the next level. Coach Wine will continue to attract top student-athletes that have a love and passion for Penn State and I'm confident that he will be able to maximize their potential during their time at University Park."

-Michael Milliron, Penn State '05

"I have a ton of respect for Coach Wine. There's no one else in the game from my view that has brought more energy and passion and makes playing baseball fun. He made playing so enjoyable. He is very knowledgeable and has great insight from his playing career. I attribute a lot of my success to his tutelage."

-Billy Gasparino, Current Toronto Blue Jays Scout, Played for Wine at Oklahoma State

"I have known Robbie Wine for the better part of 30 years. He was a great player at Oklahoma State when we had many competitive battles on the field against the Cowboys. We followed his professional career with great interest and had the wonderful experience of playing against him since he's been the head coach at Penn State. He is a fine example for young men everywhere and a great coach as well. We look forward to many more opportunities to compete against the Nittany Lions in the future."

-Gene Stephenson, Wichita State Head Baseball Coach

"Robbie Wine is one of the top coaches in our game. He runs his program in a first-class manner and his players are successful in the classroom and on the baseball field. I have no doubts that he will continue to build a quality program at Penn State and compete for Big Ten Championships!"

-Ritch Price, Kansas Head Baseball Coach

Assistant Coach

Jason
BELL

Seventh Year
Oklahoma State, 2003

Throughout his successful collegiate coaching career, Robbie Wine has relied on assistant coach Jason Bell to oversee his teams' pitching, both at Oklahoma State and now at Penn State. Wine and Bell, in their 10th season together, have produced a talented core of pitchers that are expected to shine in 2011.

Bell, who enters his seventh season in Happy Valley, has served as the team's pitching coach while also heavily involved in recruiting with fellow assistant coach Eric Folmar. Possessing an impressive list of credentials, the former second-round Major League Draft pick came to Penn State with Wine in the fall of 2004.

In his first six years with the Nittany Lions, Bell has overseen a dramatic improvement in the pitching staff. Over the last two years, he helped David Lutz transform into a top-flight reliever, leading the team in ERA since 2009. Bell also helped converted outfielder Scott Kelley make a smooth transition to the mound, which eventually led to him becoming a 23rd round selection of the Kansas City Royals in the Major League Baseball Amateur Draft. Last season, reliever Heath Johnson was also selected in the draft after the Yankees took him in the 45th round.

The previous June, one of Bell's protégés became the program's top draft pick as Drew O'Neil was selected in the fourth round by the Chicago White Sox. O'Neil, a First Team All-Big Ten selection, tied his own Penn State single-season saves record with 11 while boasting a 1.88 ERA and allowing just four earned runs through the regular season.

Throughout 2008, Mike Wanamaker made excellent gains, throwing four complete games - including one against Indiana in the Big Ten Tournament - and compiling a 3.41 ERA. Penn State allowed the fewest home runs (26) in the Big Ten that season.

In 2007, Penn State led the conference in ERA (4.05), fewest runs, fewest earned runs and fewest hits allowed to spearhead Penn State's 10.5 game improvement from '06. Penn State led Big Ten pitching by wide margins in conference play. The Nittany Lions' 3.41 overall team ERA was tops by a full 1.39 runs. The 112 runs and 89 earned runs allowed were also the fewest. In fact, Penn State was the only team to give up less than 100 earned runs in conference play (fewer than three earned runs per game). The Nittany Lion hurlers also allowed the second-fewest hits in the league and picked up 20 wins, also second-best. Four of Bell's pitchers were drafted come June: Gary Amato, Craig Clark, Scott Gaffney and Drew O'Neil. Amato, Clark and Gaffney all signed professional contracts while O'Neil, who set the school record for saves in a season and had a scoreless inning streak reach 20.1 innings, elected to return to school despite being an eighth round pick.

Penn State led the Big Ten in fewest walks with just 157 in 435 innings of work in 2006. Clark was tied for third in the Big Ten in fewest walks with just 14 in 91.2 innings, including a streak of 26.2 straight innings without a free pass. Overall, the pitching staff had a 2.22:1 strikeout to walk ratio and was second in the Big Ten in strikeouts through the end of the regular season before eventually finishing in a fifth-place tie with 349. Additionally, Alan Stidfole, signed a free agent contract with the Toronto

Blue Jays.

In his first year as pitching coach in 2005, Bell guided the staff to five shutouts and better than a 2:1 strikeout to walk ratio. Two pitchers, Sean Stidfole and Josh Palm, were also drafted.

A co-worker of Wine's at Oklahoma State, Bell served as volunteer assistant coach in charge of pitching for three seasons. During his time with the Cowboys, he aided in the development of seven pitchers who were taken in the Major League Baseball Amateur Draft, including a second and fourth-rounder. The Cowboys also won the 2004 Big 12 Conference Championship. Some notable pitchers he coached at Oklahoma State include current big leaguers Scott Baker (Minnesota) and Scott Richmond (Toronto).

Like Wine, Bell has a wide variety of playing and coaching experience, both at the collegiate and professional ranks, that totals 18 years. Prior to his three-year stint as an assistant coach, he pitched in the minor leagues from 1995-2001. He was selected in the second round of the 1995 draft by the Minnesota Twins and played with the Low-A Fort Wayne Wizards, the High-A Fort Myers Miracle, the Double-A New Britain Rock Cats and the Triple-A Salt Lake City Buzz. He also played in the Toronto Blue Jays' system for both their Double-A (Tennessee) and Triple-A (Syracuse) teams. Bell holds the New Britain Rock Cats' franchise record for career strikeouts and is second in wins.

Prior to playing professionally, Bell pitched at Oklahoma State from 1993-95. While there, he participated in the 1993 College World Series and was an All-Big Eight selection in 1994 and 1995, when he led the Cowboys in ERA (3.30 and 3.10), innings pitched (128 and 145) and strikeouts (140 and 120). He was also a two-time All-American in 1994 and 1995, helping the team to three Big Eight Championships. He pitched 325.1 career innings, second-most in school history while his 31 victories are third. Bell's 145 innings pitched and 19 games started in 1995 are both school records. He also holds the school record for consecutive victories with 19, spanning from 1993-95.

A native of Orlando, Fla. Bell graduated from William R. Boone High School in Orlando in 1992. He earned his bachelor's degree from Oklahoma State in Sociology in 2003 after returning to school following his professional career. Bell resides with his wife Tracy and daughter, Reagan Elizabeth.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Eric FOLMAR

Sixth Year
Old Dominion, 1999

Eric Folmar enters his sixth season as an assistant coach at Penn State. He serves as the program's recruiting coordinator and is responsible for coaching the infielders, outfielders and base running, as well as assisting with day-to-day operations. He also serves as the team's third base coach. Prior to Penn State, he spent four years as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Old Dominion.

Folmar has teamed with pitching coach Jason Bell to bring top talent to Happy Valley. He has brought in players like former pitcher Drew O'Neil, who went on to twice be selected in the top 10 rounds of the Major League Baseball Draft. After getting drafted in the eighth round by the Cincinnati Reds in 2007, he chose to remain in school and was then picked in the fourth round by the Chicago White Sox in '08. Folmar has also recruited some of the top in-state talent as 15 members of the current team are from the Keystone State.

Penn State has consistently been near the top of the Big Ten in double plays since Folmar's arrival. In 2009, the Nittany Lions turned the most double plays in the conference (66), four ahead of Indiana in second. They also finished the 2010 season with a .967 team fielding percentage, better than the Big Ten average and their best showing since 2006.

In 2008, the Nittany Lion infield fielded the second most double plays in the Big Ten (56). It was also second in assists with 640, led by Landon Nakata's conference-leading 179.

The Penn State infield had its second-consecutive solid year under Folmar's direction in 2007, as the Nittany Lions fielded at a .963 clip. Second baseman Matt Cavagnaro was one of the top defensive players in the country, finishing with just five errors and a remarkable .983 fielding percentage.

Folmar's work with the infield was instrumental in Penn State committing the second-fewest errors in the conference in 2006. The Nittany Lions were tied for third in the Big Ten in fielding percentage that year.

In addition, first baseman Cory Wine easily obtained the school record for career putouts with 1,903, a full 710 ahead of Mike DeRenzo in second place. He currently owns the top four single-season marks with 521 (2007), 505 (2008), 458 (2007) and 419 (2006), respectively.

While Folmar was at Old Dominion from 2002-05, he was responsible for coaching the infielders and catchers while assisting with recruiting. Folmar also served as the Monarchs' camp coordinator.

Prior to returning to his alma mater following the 2001 season, he served for two years as an assistant coach at Young Harris Junior College (Young Harris, Ga.), the same junior college as current Nittany Lions Michael Glantz and C.J. Smith. While there, he coached the team's infielders and catchers and acted as the baseball camp coordinator. The Mountain Lions won 82 games and two conference titles in his two years.

Folmar was a four-year starter at Old Dominion from 1996-1999, helping lead the Monarchs to three Colonial Athletic Association Championship game appearances. The Monarchs went on to win the 1996 CAA Championship and advanced to the NCAA Regionals.

A native of Chambersburg, Pa., Folmar earned his bachelor's degree in health and physical education from Old Dominion in 1999. He is married to former Monarch field hockey All-American Kim Miller, a former member of the U.S. National Team. The couple has three children, Bryce, Zac, Alex, and Tyler.

Assistant Coach

#41

Will HOOVER

Third Year
Phoenix, 2007

Will Hoover, a former scout, coach and minor league baseball player, enters his third season as assistant coach with the Penn State baseball program.

Hoover contributes to much of the day-to-day coaching of the Nittany Lions. His main focus is the hitters, working with them in outlining the offensive approach, various hitting drills and performing video analysis. Other duties involve working with the catchers while also serving as the first base coach on game day.

Under his tutelage, Penn State had an outstanding offensive season in 2010. Led by All-American Ben Heath, the Nittany Lions posted a .298 batting average, which was their highest since 2005. Heath led the way, posting a .369 batting average with 19 home runs, and 57 RBI. He was not alone in his efforts, however, as four players hit above .340, including freshmen Elliot Searer and Steve Snyder who both earned Big Ten honors.

The squad also had an outstanding 2009 season at the plate as the Lions finished the season with a .294 team batting average. On an individual basis, Jordan Steranka netted Penn State's "triple crown," leading the squad in bat-

WHAT THE PLAYERS ARE SAYING...

"Coach Hoover has been a great resource to our team ever since his addition to the coaching staff. He has spent many hours working with the hitters in the cage and watching video. His coaching has made a positive impact on our offensive production as a team and in our approach to hitting. As a player that has worked with Coach Hoover frequently, I have benefited from his teaching and he has helped me improve my game both offensively and defensively."

Former Catcher Ben Heath

"Coach Hoover has helped me greatly with my personal development as a hitter. The intelligence he has for the subject of hitting is extraordinary. In the short two years I've been here, the knowledge about hitting that I have learned from him has helped me grow tremendously as a hitter. Coach has been a great addition to the staff and his expertise significantly benefits our team."

Junior Third Baseman Jordan Steranka

"Coach Hoover is a tremendous asset to our team. His knowledge and love for the game is unlike anyone I have ever been around. He has helped me in every aspect of my game, and I learn something new every time I am around him. The commitment and time he has given to the program has earned the respect of all the players."

Former Second Baseman Louie Picconi

ting average (.365), home runs (6) and RBI (42). He was later named to the All-Big Ten Third Team and to the All-Rookie Team. In total, four players finished with a .300 or better average with three others within .05 of that mark. Along with Steranka, two others drove in 40 or more runs.

The native of Cumberland, Pa. previously managed the Cedar Cliff (Camp Hill, Pa.) High School varsity baseball team. During his very successful tenure, the Colts amassed 149 victories and were consistently at or near the top of the Mid-Penn conference as a perennial playoff team. He was honored with the Mid-Penn Conference Baseball Coach of the Year accolades in 2005 when he led the squad to a conference championship. Hoover graduated 45 All-Conference players with 96 percent of them going on to college. Many of his players went on to play at various Division I, II, and III programs throughout the country.

Hoover came to Penn State with a plethora of baseball experience. Drafted as a catcher by Colorado in 1993, he played in both the Rockies' and New York Mets' farm systems.

Upon the end of his playing career, Hoover became a professional player development consultant and scout. He was employed as a Rockies' associate scout for eight years. He is also an advanced scout for Inside Edge, Inc., Baseball Info Solutions and the Baseline Group/Dugout Central, Inc. baseball consulting services.

Will was also selected as the head baseball coach for the Capitol Region of the 2003-08 Pennsylvania State Keystone Games. In addition, he has worked as a color analyst for the PA SportsFever Television Network.

Hoover holds a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration from the University of Phoenix. He currently serves as vice president of marketing for Hoover Rehabilitation Services, Inc., the largest private health and disability management firm in the Mid-Atlantic. Hoover lives in New Cumberland, Pa., with his wife, Wendy, and three daughters: Emerson, Addison, and newborn Grayson. He also has two boxer pups named Dig and Wakely.

Penn State 6, North Carolina 5

Penn State 10, North Carolina 3

Following an at-large berth into the NCAA Tournament, the Nittany Lions close out an impressive showing at the Upper Montclair Regional with two wins against North Carolina to advance to the Super Regionals in Austin, Texas. The NCAA Tournament appearance marks Penn State's first since 1976.

The 2000 squad had a right to celebrate after advancing to the Super Regionals

March 3, 2007

Penn State 3, #1 North Carolina 2 (10 innings)

Penn State scores in the seventh and ninth innings to erase a 2-0 deficit and force extra innings, where they score in the 10th for the dramatic win over #1 nationally ranked and previously undefeated North Carolina. The Nittany Lions even the score at two behind a two-out ninth inning home run from Rob Yodice. Craig Clark pitches eight innings, allowing two runs on only four hits while Drew O'Neil tosses a hitless ninth and 10th for the victory. The win also marks head coach Robbie Wine's 50th of his career.

Rob Yodice was the ninth-inning hero in the thrilling extra-inning win over #1 North Carolina.

March 23, 2007

Penn State 8, Central Connecticut State 1; First Penn State game in Medlar Field at Lubrano Park

Penn State opens Medlar Field at Lubrano Park in fashion, dominating Central Connecticut State, 8-1. Craig Clark allows only one hit and an unearned run through eight strong innings. At the plate, Brian Ernst goes 3-for-4 with an RBI and two runs scored while Joe Blackburn finishes 2-for-5 with two RBI and a run.

May 25, 2007

Penn State 6, Michigan 5 (10 innings)

Penn State 6, Illinois 2

The Nittany Lions open the 2007 Big Ten Tournament with a win and loss on May 23 and 24, forcing them into a must-win situation on May 25. They start by topping host Michigan, who came in as the top seed. Cory Wine is the hero, hitting the go-ahead solo home run in the 10th inning to keep Penn State alive another game. They then go on to beat Illinois hours later in another win-or-go-home scenario.

May 16, 2009

Penn State 10, #21 Minnesota 8

Down 8-5 heading into the bottom of the fourth inning, Penn State bounces back with a run in the fifth, three in the sixth and one more in the seventh for a 10-8 lead, which would stand as the final. Calvin Grumley, Ryan Ignas and David Lutz combine to toss six shutout innings in relief for the memorable season-finale amidst two rain delays. In the process, the Nittany Lions prevent the Golden Gophers from the Big Ten Regular Season Championship, dropping them down to the second seed for the upcoming Big Ten Tournament.

Calvin Grumley, Ryan Ignas and David Lutz shut down a potent Minnesota attack over the final six innings to give Penn State the thrilling win.

PROGRAM TIMELINE

The Performance: The Lions posted a 17-6 record en route to their first College World Series appearance in school history.

The Story: Anchored by freshman Keith Vesling (7-3, 2.40 ERA, 82.1 IP), Penn State's three-man rotation dominated opposing hitters. Bill Everson and Jack Krumrine each posted 5-1 marks to round out a rotation that combined for all 17 of the Lions' wins.

The Result: After a fine season and back-to-back wins in the District II Regionals, the Nittany Lions bowed out of their first CWS appearance. They fell to eventual champion, Holy Cross, and took home a tie for third.

The Performance: The "Technology Bandwagon" made its way through Happy Valley as coach Joe Bedenk invested in an early model of today's pitching machine. The machine, an awkward and inefficient contraption, was able to hurl one ball every eight seconds.

The Story: After having his spring batting practices delayed weeks at a time due to weather conditions, Bedenk was finally able to take his men indoors to get their swings. In addition to buying his batters over two weeks of extra batting practice, the machine also kept his pitchers' arms fresh as they threw batting practice in previous years.

The Result: It didn't take long to see a return on the technological investment. The 1957 squad made a run to the College World Series Finals.

The Performance: After reeling off a school-record 21 consecutive wins to start the year, the 1957 Nittany Lions became arguably the best team in school history and in doing so, became the benchmark for success in Happy Valley. Finishing with a 22-2 record and a school-best second place finish in the College World Series.

The Story: Legendary hurler Ed Drapcho (12-0, 1.52 ERA; single-season school record wins) and two-sport star Cal Emery (10-1, captain of basketball team) posted all 22 of the Lions' wins. The tandem also tallied an astounding 15 complete games and gave up a combined 29 earned runs.

Drapcho became the school's first-ever First Team All-American and Emery, despite the Penn State loss to California in the CWS Finals, became the only NCAA Tournament MVP in school history.

The Result: After a 17-0 regular season and four consecutive postseason victories, the squad ran into a juggernaut in the University of California. Penn State fell defeat in both the second round and finals to take runner-up honors while making its mark in the record books.

The Performance: Reminiscent to the 1952 season in which Penn State made its first College World Series, the 1959 squad posted an identical 17-6 record while making the school's third CWS appearance.

The Story: As per the theme of the 1950s, dominant pitching led the Lions into the postseason. The staff as a whole posted a skimpy 2.66 ERA for a Nittany Lion squad that outscored its opponents by a 172-89 margin.

The Result: Penn State defeated Connecticut, 5-3, in the first round before falling into the losers' bracket after an 8-6 loss to eventual College World Series champion Oklahoma State. The persistent Lions fought back through the losers' bracket by shutting out Clemson 7-0, only to fall to the same Oklahoma State Cowboys, 4-3, when the Cowboys rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth inning. It marked the third time in the decade in which Penn State lost to the eventual College World Series Champion. The Nittany Lions finished fourth.

The Performance: In Chuck Medlar's first season at the Penn State coaching helm, his Lions posted a 14-6 record in making their first and last College World Series appearance of the decade.

The Story: In addition to posting a 10-2 mark (10 wins, tied for third on school's single-season wins list) and a miniscule 1.94 ERA, Bob Fenton also tallied no-hit games in wins over Cornell (17-0) and Rider (3-0, District II Regionals). He became just the third of eight Nittany Lions to toss no-hitters and the first to accomplish the feat twice.

The Result: Medlar debuted in fine fashion, leading his squad to the College World Series after a three-year absence. The Lions, after finishing the regular season 11-4, won three of their five postseason matchups to close the season with a 14-6 record and a fifth-place CWS finish.

The Performance: Penn State, again led by a dominant pitching staff, posted a 19-7 record and made the last of its five College World Series appearances.

The Story: Mitch Lukevics, a freshman, turned in one of the most dominating pitching performances in school history to lead a rock-solid Nittany Lion squad. Lukevics, from nearby Bellefonte, posted a 7-2 record with a 1.23 ERA in the first of his three seasons at Penn State. To go along with his impressive stats, he finished the season with 86 strikeouts in just 65.2 innings of work, a ratio of 11.7 K per nine innings (seventh in the nation).

Lukevics in the Penn State Record Book

Career Record: 24-5 (3rd in wins)

ERA: 1.24 (1st)

Strikeouts: 266 (3rd)

Shutouts: 9 (1st)

Single-Season Shutouts: 3 (2nd)

Wins: 11 (1975, 2nd)

The Result: Despite going 0-2 in the College World Series, the Lions finished the postseason with a 3-2 mark and an overall record of 19-7.

Bill Benton (1959-60) is one of only four Nittany Lions to hit two triples in a game.

The Performance: The Lions posted an 18-8 record on their way to the school's last NCAA appearance until 2000.

The Story: The most notable of the squad's 18 wins came on April 19 in a 9-3 handling of George Washington. The win marked the team's eighth of the season and 1,000th in school history.

The Result: After posting an 18-6 regular season record, the Lions dropped their first two postseason games and bowed out of the Regionals. Greg Vogel was rewarded for an outstanding season by nabbing First Team All-America status. He became just the third of four Nittany Lions to receive the honor. Vogel was rewarded again after the season by becoming the first-ever Penn Stater to be selected in the first round of the Major League Baseball Draft.

The Performance: David Simononis turned in arguably the best offensive season in Penn State history.

The Storyline: Simononis hit a school-record 17 home runs, all with significant meaning. Penn State went 11-2 in games when Simononis homered and just 6-4-2 when he didn't.

Simononis also tallied the best single-season slugging percentage (total bases/at-bats) in school history with 1.100, hit .478 (also best) and recorded a 13-game hit streak.

The Result: Simononis not only led the Lions to a solid 17-6-2 record, but he also propelled himself into the Penn State record books with his dominant offensive performance.

Single-Season Batting Avg.: .478 (1st)

Slugging: 1.100 (1st)

Home Runs: 17 (1st)

Career Batting Avg.: .403 (2nd)

1990

The Performance: O.J. McDuffie, of PSU Football and NFL fame, played his first and last season for the Nittany Lion baseball squad.

The Storyline: McDuffie stole 20 bases (t-3rd, single season-school history) on 21 attempts (96 percent clip), hit .336 and had a .969 fielding percentage.

The Result: As a reward for his stellar football play, McDuffie was taken in the first round of the NFL Draft by the Miami Dolphins (1993).

The Performance: With a 19-8 Big Ten season (32-24-1 overall), the Nittany Lions won the school's only Big Ten Championship.

The Story: Baby-faced sophomore Nate Bump led a list of 10 All-Big Ten honorees, including first-teamers Bump and Carl Albrecht. Bump was also named Big Ten Pitcher of the Year and Pitcher of the Week three times. The sophomore posted an 8-5 mark, including three shutouts and seven complete games, to go along with his 3.60 ERA and 93 strikeouts.

The Result: The result was a Big Ten Championship and a Big Ten Coach of the Year honor for sixth-year head coach, Joe Hindelang.

The Performance: After a 24-year NCAA absence, the 2000 Lions posted a 45-19 record and advanced to the postseason for the first time since 1976.

The Storyline: Led by the banner year of First Team All-American Michael Campo, Penn State tallied a 41-16 regular season record. Campo established single-season school records in at-bats (261), hits (111), doubles (24) and runs (83) on his way to Big Ten Player of the Year and Academic All-Big Ten accolades.

In postseason action, freshman Kevin Damiano stepped into the limelight. In the Upper Montclair Regional, Damiano's nine innings with just six hits allowed against North Carolina earned Penn State the Regional Title and himself the Most Outstanding Player Award. The Lions cruised through the regional with a 4-1 record, including two victories over the Tar Heels.

The Result: Despite dropping back-to-back games to Texas in Super Regional action, the 2000 Lions finished a school-record 45 wins. The program also saw five players - Shawn Fagan, Matt Harter, Eric Spadt, Chris Netwall and Scott Russo - drafted by Major League clubs.

The Performance: Penn State set a school record for most Big Ten wins and tied its second-best finish in the Big Ten. Numerous individuals also break school records.

The Storyline: After starting out the season 2-12 against one of the toughest schedules in the country, the Nittany Lions finished the year with a 29-14 record to finish 31-26, just the fifth time with at least 30 wins in school history. Penn State also tied for second in the Big Ten behind a 20-10 conference record. That mark is tied with the 2000 team for the second-best Big Ten finish in school history while surpassing the 19 Big Ten games won by the 1996 squad for the most in school history. The team also won three Big Ten Tournament games (tied for most in school history) while its five Big Ten series wins were tied for the second most.

Individually, Drew O'Neil broke the school record for most saves in a season with 11. Matt Ogrodnik broke his own school record by appearing in 29 games while Scott Gaffney's 17 sacrifices were a new record as well. In addition, Cory Wine broke his own mark for putouts with 521.

The Result: Despite its hot streak at the end of the year that featured wins in five of its last six Big Ten series and three straight in the conference tournament, Penn State fell just short of an NCAA Tournament berth. However, the Nittany Lions ended their first season at Medlar Field at Lubrano Park with some new records, many memories and with upward momentum for the program.

TEAM AWARD WINNERS

F. JOSEPH BEDENK AWARD

The F. Joseph Bedenk Award is presented each year to the most valuable member of the Penn State baseball team. It is given in memory of the Nittany Lions' legendary coach, Joe Bedenk, who guided Penn State from 1931-62 and is the all-time leader in wins for Penn State coaches with 380.

The 2009 winner was freshman third baseman Jordan Steranka. He led the Nittany Lions in most every offensive category, including the team's "triple crown" of average (.365), home runs (6) and RBI (42). In the process, he also set a Penn State freshman hits record with 70. The native of Pittsburgh earned a spot onto the Big Ten All-Conference Third Team.

ED DRAPCHO AWARD

The Ed Drapcho Award is named after Ed Drapcho, a former Penn State All-American pitcher from 1955 to 1957. Drapcho still holds several school records to this day, including career wins and complete games, season wins, complete games and winning percentage and strikeouts in a single game. The award is given annually to the most improved player on the team.

The 2009 winner was catcher Ben Heath. Along with success at the plate, he came into his own with the pitching staff and became a dependable signal-caller. In his first year of significant action, he hit .289 with three home runs and 20 driven in.

CHARLES MEDLAR AWARD

The Charles Medlar Award is named after Charles "Chuck" Medlar, whom Penn State's home stadium Medlar Field at Lubrano Park is also named after. Medlar was Penn State's head coach from 1963-1981 and ranks third all-time at Penn State in coaching wins with 312. He also led the Nittany Lions to a pair of College World Series. The award is presented each year to the outstanding pitcher on the Penn State team.

The winner was starting pitcher T.J. Macy, who put forth an impressive final season in Happy Valley. He finished with a team-leading 4.95 ERA among pitchers with at least 10 starts. Macy finished the season fifth in the Big Ten with 91 strikeouts, which is also good for eighth in Penn State single-season history. He also held batters to a .263 batting average ninth-best in the conference. Despite eventually falling defeat, one highlight came at #4 Texas when he pitched a complete-game gem, allowing only one run to the stout Longhorn offense.

SHORTY STONER AWARD

The Shorty Stoner Award recognizes outstanding academic achievement by a member of the Penn State baseball team and is presented annually to the player with the highest grade point average on the team. The award is named after Shorty Stoner, who coached Penn State from 1982-1990 and is fourth all-time in wins by a Nittany Lion head coach. Stoner also played for Penn State from 1965-67.

The 2009 winner was pitcher Paul Cianciolo. Along with posting a strong 4-1 record with a 4.50 ERA, he excelled in the classroom, and was named to the Academic All-America Second Team.

(2) January secondary phase of the draft.

* Underclassman who chose to remain in school

 Drafted out of High School

 Member of the Penn State football team

DID YOU KNOW?

- Over the last three years, Penn State has had the third most draft selections out of all Big Ten schools.
- Two current Nittany Lions were drafted out of high school: Mike Wanamaker (Pittsburgh Pirates in 2005) and Joey DeBernardis (Florida Marlins in 2008).
- Nate Bump recently won a World Series with the 2003 Florida Marlins. He saw action in two games in the National League Championship Series against the Chicago Cubs.
- A number of draftees have come from the Penn State football program, most recently Anthony Scirrotto this past June. Among the other two-sport athletes were Kerry Collins, currently of the NFL's Tennessee Titans, who was drafted on three separate occasions, but opted to pursue football.
- O.J. McDuffie (below), who played for the Nittany Lion baseball team in 1990, actually reached the highest level of his other sport, football. The wide receiver starred for the Miami Dolphins, finishing his career with 415 receptions, fourth in franchise history. His best season came in 1998, making a league-leading 90 catches.

LEGEND OF MONTE WARD

"In the spring of 1875, Old Main on the Penn State campus looked down on a strange sight. On the front lawn, a small crowd was gathering in a semi-circle. In the center were three stakes driven in a straight line. And there was a stocky, light-haired youth with a baseball in his hand.

"The youth stationed himself at one end of the row of stakes and placed a companion at the other. He poised himself a moment, then threw the baseball. It started on the right side of the first stake, passed to the left of the second and curved back to the right of the third before the companion caught it.

"The crowd pressed closer. Professor William A. Buckhout leaned forward. The youth repeated the feat. History does not record whether the crowd was convinced, but it does say that John Montgomery Ward was one of the first curve-ball pitchers in baseball history."

Those words were taken out of a 1954 story in the Centre Democrat about Ward.

Nittany Lion fans have heard of Greg Vogel, Nate Bump and Michael Campo. Those three are arguably three of the best players to ever compete in Happy Valley.

But the most heralded player to wear the blue and white (black and pink at the time) was John Montgomery Ward, who went by the name "Monte".

The story of Ward has been visited and revisited many times, but it never gets old and it's always enjoyable to hear.

The gifted student and athlete was a native of nearby Bellefonte, Pa. He was born on March 3, 1860, and enrolled at Penn State College at the ripe age of 13. He attended Penn State for several years and is generally given credit for helping found the very first Nittany Lion baseball team in 1875. However, the young pioneer never graduated from Penn State because he was kicked out of school for stealing chickens after numerous warnings from the administration. He received his Bachelor's and Law degrees from Columbia University in 1887.

Ward's one year on the Penn State squad presented opportunities that led him into the 1964 class of the Major League Baseball Hall of Fame.

During his illustrious major league career, Ward posted a .371 batting average twice, won 40-plus games as a pitcher twice, pitched the second perfect game in the history of baseball and served as captain and manager of the original New York Giants.

Ward set a major league record for most assists (12) by a second baseman in a nine inning game on June 10, 1892 (the first game of a doubleheader). That record still stands today and is held with seven other players - Ryne Sandberg, Harold Reynolds, Juan Samuel, Glenn Hubbard, Jim Gilliam, Tony Phillips and Don Money.

He accrued 2,151 hits while maintaining a career .283 batting average playing shortstop. As a pitcher, he won 158 games and recorded 25 shutouts with his curveball. In addition, he just missed another perfect game in 1882, allowing a home run in the 18th inning of a 1-0 defeat.

The New York Herald-Tribune once said, "Mr. Ward was one of the few men in baseball who started at the bottom and later became captain, manager and president of major league baseball clubs."

Ward posted a 412-320 (.563) record as a manager for four different teams. His statistics are impressive for a late-19th Century ballplayer.

But his contributions to the game go much further than what the record books say. Ward has been credited with three major additions that have changed the game forever.

In 1876, while attending Penn State and playing in a game for Lock Haven, Ward suffered a humiliating 40-0 loss against the Harrisburg "High Boys," which were the amateur baseball champions of Pennsylvania. Billy Hutter struck out 18 consecutive Lock Haven batters in the game.

Little did he know at the time, but Ward received the big break he needed after that game.

Hutter kept the Lock Haven offense off balance with his curveball. The "curve pitch," as it was called, was only in its infancy at the time and had yet to be perfected. Ward approached Hutter following the game, introduced himself, and learned the fundamentals of the curve behind the Harrisburg team hotel.

Ward perfected the pitch - and the rest is history.

The New York Mutuals' Art Cummings pitched a curveball earlier than Hutter, which he learned from Bobby Matthews, but none reached the heights that Ward did.

While the curveball was a major addition to the game, Ward added a few other dimensions to the game that players from middle school to the major leagues use as tactics to this very day.

Ward is credited as one of the creative minds in developing schemes for defending the double steal. He is also believed to be the first pitcher to intentionally walk a batter in order to set up a double play.
